

COMPANY PROFILE

nteam GmbH

We increase your productivity through partnership-based IT services and consulting.

nteam has been advising and supporting companies in modern communication and collaboration for more than 23 years with approx. 40 employees.

In joint projects, we introduce innovative working methods and increase the productivity of your employees directly. We create productive teamwork through collaborative IT and consulting services and convince with quality, many years of experience and expert knowledge in future technologies of Microsoft.

Our services include consulting, service, administration support, development, but also the further development of your cloud environment, on-premise or hybrid. We are focusing on,

Team Collaboration:

...how to work hand in hand and efficiently. how to create, structure, securely store and archive your information and documents.

Team Communication:

...how to use the modern communication capabilities provided by Microsoft active, efficient and secure. In addition to the direct communication, the focus is also on team communication in groups and conferences.

Team Application:

...how to get the most out of your existing system. Not every requirement can be realized within standard applications. We also offer tailored applications for your specific needs.

We offer this individual advice for companies from the upper middle class, for large companies and also for the public sector. We accompany you from the first idea to the long-term support of your projects.

Additionally, we offer you support in the procurement, installation and management of licenses, but also a wide range of additional services in the use of Microsoft 365 as well as accompanying hardware. We also support you if you want to use more services or applications to operate with the Microsoft's Azure cloud platform, which allows you to quickly build, deploy, and manage applications.

As your Solution (certified Microsoft) partner with multiple gold competencies, we feel responsible to clarify the successful and safe usage of Microsoft products and services. We answer your first-level questions and provide you with quick and easy support.

Together, we put your wishes into practice and bring you a big step closer to the digitized workplace.
